Wayan Nika and had the idea of building an orphanage since 1967, when he was still studying at Hindu Institute. As his intention was very strong, in every semester holiday, Wayan Nika collected firewood from the coffee trees in Buleleng Regency and supported by other income, then in 1978 he finally succeeded in buying 0.85 hectare of land in Klungkung. Then in 1985 he built a very simple orphanage on the bought and held about 25 orphans and the poor. Wayan Nika was not really satisfied with what he did, and then he developed his profession as a photographer. Fortunately he had duties in some star hotels in Bali; his income was quite good until he again, succeeded in buying a piece of land located in Denpasar exactly at Penatih Village. Then in this village he built his second orphanage, so he has two orphanages now, which at first only held about 117 people and recently many of them have graduated from school and have worked in several work fields. This orphanage also cares for the poor and unlucky orphans from transmigration lands like from Celebes, Sumatra, Borneo and other areas.
